

Should I consider a “Christmas Career”?

Preparing for Christmas this year has me thinking about Christmas-related careers. Have you ever wondered what it would be like to work in a career that is mostly or fully dependent on families’ observation of Christmas or other religious customs? I’m thinking about chocolate, home decor, fashion and perfume, electronics, as well as the more traditional or ‘first’ Christmas careers of tending to reindeer, sheep and farm animals or sharing messages of hope with others through music/dramatic performances or sermons. If you or someone you know is looking at making a Christmas-Career-Change - you may enjoy checking out some of these links!

- How to become a Chocolatier?
- How do I get paid for decorating houses? (hint...you may be interested in a career as an Interior Designer or Interior Decorator)
- I love to shop...but there’s no career in shopping, right? (Fashion Buyer, or Purchasing Agent, anyone?)
- Thinking a part time retail sales job won’t get you very far? Check out careers in Supply Chain Management!

- Craving adventure? Why not help out on a Reindeer farm in Finland or tend the Shetland sheep on the island of Foula, north of Scotland (once Covid restrictions have subsided, of course). There are many programs for students to explore during a ‘gap’ year or as part of their post-secondary education in agriculture.

Whether you are considering a “Christmas Career” or would like some help to plan out a different career path, embark on a job search or research post-secondary education, I’m here to help!
